

Admission policy and procedure

Admission to the study programmes at Middlesex University is subject to the fulfilment of the required admission criteria (see page 2ff) and available spots. Final admission to a degree programme, course and/or module can only be granted after appropriate assessment of the admission requirements on the basis of the documents submitted by the prospective student. As the number of students may be limited, the order of applications also decides on admission. KMU Akademie & Management AG endeavours to offer a place in the chosen programme to every applicant who meets the admission criteria.

If the student does not meet the admission criteria, the tuition fee is not due and the registration lapses without any mutual claims. The same applies in the event that no spot can be made available within the framework of an application for the DBA degree programme (places are limited).
